Question

is my gucci bag sustainable

Eco Score: 6/10

Explanation

Designer brands like Gucci are making efforts toward sustainability, such as using recycled materials and sustainable practices, but luxury goods can still have significant environmental footprints due to material sourcing and energy use. Gucci is part of Kering, a group that tracks its environmental impact with the EP&L; (Environmental Profit & Loss). If your bag is made with eco-friendly leather or recycled materials, it may align better with sustainability goals.
